The 122 high-level athletes who graduated this year proved once again the success of their double project, performing as well in their sport as in their studies, as the following figures show it :

- > 100% success in the high school diploma and 78% with merit
- > 88% success in the training courses given on site at INSEP: STAPS training license and BTS MCO
- > 86% success rate in post-high school diploma training
- > 100% success rate for professional training in the field of sport

These remarkable figures attest of the quality of the collaboration between our athletes and our various academic partners, as well as the daily commitment of our educational teams and our sports squad managers.

This year and for the first time in the history of this ceremony, the Minister of Sports and Olympic and Paralympic Games, Amélie Oudéa-Castéra, honored us with her presence, thus reminding us of the importance given to the sport-studies double project, a crucial stake in the perspective of Paris 2024 Games.
